

Doug Crandell

ODEP Subject Matter Expert

Doug Crandell is appointed as Public Service Faculty at the Institute on Human Development and Disability at the University of Georgia and works as a Senior Consultant with Griffin-Hammis Associates.

He provides training and technical assistance to Georgia's supported employment providers, both through webinars and on-site mentoring. In addition, he has provided hands-on, real-time training to organizations across the country through the Training and Technical Assistance to Providers (T-TAP) project at Virginia Commonwealth University, as well as through the START-UP-USA technical assistance center for people with disabilities interested in self-employment.

Doug has been the Project Director for a number of demonstration grants funded through the U.S. Department of Labor, the Bureau of Justice Assistance and the Social Security Administration. He is a Subject Matter Expert with the Employment First Leadership State Mentoring Program at the Office of Disability Employment Policy. Widely published, Doug has authored seven books.